

Do you want to heal injuries quickly?

When we experience an injury or accident, we often feel a flood of emotions. Anger, embarrassment, fear of pain, and worry about the problem happening again.

I won't go into the details here, but biochemically, all of that emotion gets 'stuck' within some of the trillions of cells inside our body. That emotional poison gets locked in, which means that those cells can't take in vitamins and minerals anymore. So, if the cells can't take in nutrients, they won't be healthy for long. And, we all know that unhealthy cells can't heal injuries very well!

Emotions that aren't processed will absolutely slow down healing, or worse...the injury won't heal the way it should. In fact, even those old injuries that have already healed are still holding onto your old emotions. Unless you can get all of those emotions processed...your body will never perform as well as it used to.

There are numerous ways to increase healing time, and decrease pain and suffering. For a speedy recovery, call today for a free consultation!

Old injuries...Are you honestly playing as well as you did before?

Often times...not! It isn't intentional, but once injured, we tend to protect ourselves from being in pain, or being laid up. Hey, we don't want that to happen again, right? So, we don't play full out. We hold back...and we lose opportunities because of it!

You can't afford that. Don't waste your time worrying about what might happen, because you can't play safe and give it your best efforts. It doesn't work that way, and everyone does see the difference.

Never fear! ;o) We can address this issue and get great results. Call now, and you'll soon be playing as good as new...or better..."I guarantee it!"
